

Data Privacy Policy

DiLytics is strongly committed to protecting the privacy of website users, email list subscribers, event participants and users of other services. This Privacy & Data Usage policy describes what information we gather from you, how we use that information and what we do to protect it.

Scope

This Privacy & Data Usage Policy covers our treatment of information gathered from you when you are using or accessing DiLytics websites, email lists and other services. By using our website and services you are accepting the terms of this policy

Information We Collect from You

We collect non-personally identifiable information when you visit our site. We also collect personal information from you when you:

- Subscribe to our email list.
- Attend or participate in online and/or in-person events.
- Contact us directly by email, phone, social media or other communications methods.

Cookies

We use cookies on DiLytics websites to enhance the services you request and collect aggregate statistics on website usage. We do not view, analyze or seek to collect personally identifiable analytics data. The Help portion of the toolbar on most browsers will tell you how to prevent your browser from accepting new cookies. This may limit some website functionality – cookies enable us to recognize your browser and provide features that are tailored to your needs – but our website is designed to function without cookies.

Use of your information

We use your personal information to provide requested information, services and support.

You have choices when it comes to the technology you use and the data you share. When we ask you to provide personal data, you can decline. Many of our products require some personal data to provide you with a service. If you choose not to provide data required to provide you with a product or feature, you cannot use that product or feature. Likewise, where we need to collect personal data by law or to enter into or carry out a contract with you, and you do not provide the data, we will not be able to enter into the contract; or if this relates to an existing product you're using, we may have to suspend or cancel it. We will notify you if this is the case at the time. Where providing the data is optional, and you choose not to share personal data, features like personalisation that use such data will not work for you.

Disclosure of Your Information

There may be limited times when we disclose your personal information to third parties. This disclosure may be required for us to operate or provide your access to our Service, comply with our legal obligations, enforce our policies, or prevent fraud or illegal activity perpetrated through our services. We do not disclose your personally identifiable information to third parties for advertising or promotional purposes.

If we are required by law to disclose information you submitted, we will attempt to provide you with notice (unless we are prohibited) that a request for your information has been made in order to give you an opportunity to object to the disclosure. We will attempt to provide this notice by email, if you have given us an email address, or by postal mail if you have entered a postal address. We will independently object to overly broad requests for access to information about users of our site. If you do not challenge the disclosure request, we may be legally required to turn over your information.

Security

We protect your information using reasonable security measures considering the types of information we collect and store and the types of risks we face.

Nachiket Parab

Director, DiLytics Canada Inc

Date: 03 September 2019